BARS NEW CLAUSE FOR EXTRA WORK

Says City Officials Attempted to Coerce Lowest Bidder Into Accepting Change.

Justice Shearn overruled yesterday the Board of Estimate and issued a peremptory mandamus directing it to approve the contract already sanctioned for the construction for the to inquire the name of the singer. To them he is known as No. 67.

It also authorizes and directs the Controller to issue the necessary stock.

After these conditions are complied with it remains for the Corporation Counsel to approve the form of contract. There is no direction to him in the decision of the court, which says:

"It is not to be conceived that under the existing circumstances the Corporation Counsel would block this work by an arbitrary refusal to approve the form of contract that has been passing through his office and that of his predecessor for more than two years."

Justice Shearn said the contract should be approved so that the work is might go on without further delay. He said that in the end the city must be the loser if the courts approved the methods disclosed in the case, where "an attempt was made to corece the contractor into accepting a materially contract to the contract into accepting a materially contractor in contractor into accepting a materially different contract than that an-aounced at public hearings, in adver-isements of terms and invitations to

Subway Lags at Orphean Tune; Passers Stop to Scan the Cut

Campo's Opera Songs Echoing from Deep Tunnel Delight Brooklyn Heights, but Foreman Objects to Their Charm Over Other Workmen.

A day laborer by occupation, but from choice an opera singer such is Giuseppe Campo, employed on subway excavation, who has been attracting the attention of residents on Brooklyn Heights. Many living in and near the Hotels Bossert and Montague and the Graydon-Woodhall and Casino apartments on Montague Street have gone to the men working near Hicks Street

Times Square section of the new subway by the Holbrook, Cabot & Rollins Corporation.

The indefinite tying up of the work was threatened by the refusal of the board to approve the contract with the board to approve the contract with the Holbrook company, the lowest hidders, Holbrook company, the lowest hidders, the street which gleam under a heavy black mustache, has been working at the bottom of a shaft in front of the Gray-don-Woodhall apartments, 60 Montague on Woodhall apartments, 60 Montague f the form of a clause in Street. Yesterday Campo got a job oct covering compensation for overhead. The foreman said when a sked about the little Italian: "There have been so many people in the neighbor."
